

Qualicaps Environmental Policy

Qualicaps has been manufacturing and selling hard capsules for medical and health food applications, and developing, manufacturing, and selling pharmaceutical equipment to formulate and manufacture such capsules, since April 1965. We are located in a lush natural environment near the heart of Japan's Nara basin. This area is home to numerous cultural and historical sites dating from the 7th to 9th centuries, most notably the Horyuji Temple, a Buddhist site that was the first in Japan to be registered on the UNESCO World Heritage List.

Qualicaps' mission is to “Deliver satisfaction to partners, people, and the planet with creativity—for life and health.” This belief is reflected in our efforts to prevent global warming and pollution and in the initiatives described below. We pursue these goals throughout all corporate operations as part of our commitment to good stewardship of the environment for future generations.

1. Qualicaps has developed an Environmental Management System that articulates a clear framework of responsibility and authority to promote the company's environmental activities.
2. Qualicaps has established environmental objectives and programs as part of ongoing efforts to improve our Environmental Management System. We maintain a constant focus on conserving energy and resources, limiting discharge of hazardous substances into the natural environment, and reducing industrial waste in the operations of every division, consistent with a lifecycle approach.
3. In addition to complying with environmental regulations, local ordinances, and agreements, Qualicaps strives wherever possible to accommodate requests from society, industry, and customers. These efforts include establishing and adhering to voluntary standards to the extent permitted by the technical and economic constraints to which our operations are subject.
4. Qualicaps conducts internal audits of the Environmental Management System periodically to evaluate progress on established environmental objectives and programs, and works to improve its Environmental Management System by reviewing these on a regular basis.
5. Qualicaps works to increase awareness of the importance of environmental conservation and to prevent and quickly resolve accidents by ensuring that persons working under our supervision are familiar with this Environmental Policy, through training in environmental issues and conduct exercises.
6. Qualicaps will disclose or provide copies of this Environmental Policy to stakeholders upon request.
